

Change

Changes

Sometimes they are bad

Sometimes they are good

Sometimes they affect our planet wasting good food

Changes

Can be something that us children don't understand

They can mean nothing, just plain bland

Changes

Can be your fault due to your personality

Or they can be accidental through your mentality

They can be worrying through your parent's relationship

Just know inside you still have a friendship

Now that our poem comes to an end

You know that changes can become a new friend
